"The fairest flowers o' the season are our Carnations."

—Winter's Tale. iv., 4.

CARNATIONS.

For many years we have devoted special attention to the cultivation of Carnations. Owing to their great popularity and the rapidly increasing demand, we have considerably extended our facilities for their cultivation. For the cultivation of Malmaison and Tree varieties, American and English, we have erected new houses of large capacity, that enables us to grow them to perfection on the largest scale. For the cultivation of Border varieties we have built a series of frames, and considerably extended our outdoor area.

Our stocks of all classes of Carnations are exceptionally fine. We make a point of keeping all our collections close up to date by the addition of all new varieties of real value. By continual observation and comparison, coupled with our long experience, we regularly discard those varieties that prove of little value, or have been superseded by better ones. This process results in keeping our collection select, and of the highest value.

We are always happy for visitors to inspect our stocks, as at all seasons of the year there is something of interest. During the winter and early months of the year, Tree Carnations in pots make an effective display. These are followed by the many glorious varieties of Malmaisons, these in turn being followed by the Hardy Border varieties and Picotees. The Perpetual Flowering type of Tree Carnation bloom, as their name implies, through practically the whole of the year.

PERPETUAL FLOWERING CARNATIONS.

These beautiful Carnations have maintained and still further increased their great popularity. The large, non-bursting flowers, their purity, and richness of colour, the delicious fragrance that many of them possess, together with the long strong stems upon which the flowers are borne, and the fact that they are almost continually in bloom, combine to make them the most useful and beautiful of all Carnations.

The collection contained in this List is one of the most extensive in existence in this country. We have obtained the stocks direct from the best English and American raisers. From these, we have propagated the plants we distribute.

ADVICE.

We are at all times pleased to advise upon any difficulties that may occur, either with Carnations or other plants, suggestions as to formation of collections, treatment of plants, &c., will be gladly furnished. Do not hesitate to write us if you want advice.

CLIBRANS' MALMAISON CARNATIONS.*"THE FLOWER OF FASHION."

The great and rapidly increasing popularity of these lovely Carnations is of comparatively recent growth, and illustrates, in a remarkable manner, the results attendant upon skilful crossing and careful selection for the purpose of raising new varieties. Until a few years ago, the number of varieties was strictly limited; in fact, excepting the old blush-flowered Souvr. de la Malmaison, many people were entirely unacquainted with Malmaisons. Now, however, we have a wide choice of colours, ranging from pure white to deep crimson, embracing some delightful shades of rose, pink, cerise, salmon, scarlet, and other colours. All the varieties produce flowers of large size with stout petals, many of them possessing a delicious fragrance, making them doubly acceptable either for decorative use on the plant, or for cut flower purposes.

Cultural Note.—Malmaison Carnations are of the easiest culture. They require the temperature of a cool greenhouse throughout the year, and abundance of fresh air at all times. During the winter season the plants should only be watered when absolutely necessary. It is far better for the health of the plant if it is kept a little too dry rather than have an over-supply of water. Care should be taken that the water is kept from the foliage, otherwise it is liable to cause rust.

During the growing and flowering season the plants should have an abundance of water, and if the weather is bright, light shading will be beneficial. Should the plants become infected with green fly, it must be kept in check by fumigating.

"Lulled in these flowers with dances and delight."

To Employers requiring Head or Under Gardeners, Head or Assistant Foresters, or Farm Bailiffs.

We shall be pleased to send our List of Names and Addresses of suitable men, with full particulars of wages required, experience and references. Great care is taken that no man shall be placed on our Register whose character is not good. Our acquaintance with the men's abilities and characters cannot but be of service to all needing men, as the difficulty of selecting from scores of answers to an advertisement or from applicants of whom nothing whatever is known, is felt by every employer of labour ; frequently it is noticed that preference is given to an inferior man and much better men passed over.

Perpetual Flowering Carnations.

An indispensable class of decorative flowers.

The many gloriously beautiful self-coloured Perpetual Flowering Carnations, embracing pure white, yellow, pink, cerise, scarlet, and deep crimson, together with a range of charming intermediate shades, and the remarkable freedom with which they produce their flowers, render them at once favourite and invaluable subjects for greenhouse cultivation. The stems carrying the flowers are of unusual length and strength, a matter of great importance where cut flowers are in request. As decorative plants or for cutting they are equally useful; for the latter purpose the blooms are always in great demand for buttonholes, bouquet making, &c. Many varieties possess a rich fragrance. To produce the best blooms it is necessary to remove all the side buds from the stem, leaving the bud at the top.

Cultural Note.—The successful cultivation of Tree Carnations is not a difficult matter. Compost for potting should consist of three parts good fibrous yellow sandy loam and one part of well-rotted manure, with a little coarse sand or charcoal added to keep the whole sufficiently porous. Like Chrysanthemums, these plants should stand out of doors throughout the summer, and be brought into a gentle heat on the approach of winter. Where large specimens are desired, the plants that have bloomed for the first time during the winter should be shortened back in the month of March, shifted into 8in. or 9in. pots in the month of May, and as soon as established, stood out of doors till the beginning of October. Abundance of air, gentle heat, and careful watering are their chief requirements during the blooming season.

PRICES.—Except where otherwise stated.

Young Plants, in 2½ in. or 3 in. pots, in early spring, 6d., and 9d. each; 5/- and 6/- per doz. In larger pots, later, 1/- and 1/6 each, 9/- and 12/- per doz.

Flowering Size Plants, in autumn, winter, and spring, 1/3, 1/6 and 2/- each; 12/-, 15/- and 18/- doz.

SELFS, CLOVES AND FANCIES.

For Garden adornment, the Carnation produces an effect at once unique and beautiful. The diversity and wide range of their colours, the smooth, even formation of the flowers, together with their freedom of growth and of flower, and the distinct appearance of the foliage, lend a charm that would otherwise be absent. The sweet fragrance of many of the varieties adds also to their value.

Cultural Note.—When the ground is in good working condition, is not too much exposed, and does not retain too much moisture in the winter, we strongly recommend autumn planting as giving stronger plants and a better display of bloom. In bleak, exposed localities, the plants should be wintered in small pots in a cold frame, and planted out in April. Border Carnations usually thrive in any good garden soil. Their chief enemy is the wire worm, and this may be kept at a distance by sowing mustard seed in late summer where it is intended to plant the Carnations, and digging the mustard crop in when it has reached the height of six or eight inches.

The following collection includes the most profuse bloomers of vigorous growth, suitable alike for cutting or garden adornment.

Show Carnations and Picotees.

Fine Exhibition Varieties, comprising Bizarres, Flakes and Picotees.

6d., 9d. and 1/- each ; 5/-, 6/-, and 9/- per dozen.

These succeed best in fresh, cool, loamy soil, and but moderately rich. They should be planted at the end of March or early in April. We always advise our patrons not to defer ordering until the end of these months, as by that time the best plants have been disposed of ; the earlier the orders are placed, the better prospect of success. Our collection has been most carefully formed from the numerous choice varieties in cultivation, and is one of the most select in the Kingdom. We do not consider it necessary to catalogue a list of names ; customers may rely, in leaving selections to us, that they will receive the best possible value for their outlay.

Border Pinks.

These beautiful, old-fashioned flowers are still among the very best for cutting purposes, while their attractive colours and sweet perfume make them peculiarly acceptable for beds, borders, and rockwork. They are perfectly hardy, and require but little attention. They can be propagated by cuttings or by layers, the latter method giving the sturdier plants.

When brought on in a cool house and supplied with abundance of air, they bloom profusely in the spring. Perhaps the best for this purpose are Albino and Ernest Ladhams. Failure under this treatment is generally due to the temperature being too high.

Show or Laced Pinks.

An indispensable class of hardy Florists' Flowers of easy growth. They are invaluable for decorating borders, or for cutting purposes, commencing to flower early in June, and continuing to the end of July. They thrive well in good garden soil enriched with a little rotten manure.

Exhibition varieties should be struck from cuttings not later than the month of August, and ought to be kept in beds throughout the winter, otherwise the lace is liable to be interrupted. To obtain perfect bloom in the North, it is necessary to shelter the plants under glass, as rain and wind will quickly tarnish the flowers.

Pansies.

SHOW VARIETIES.

March and April are the best months for planting out Pansies. The ground should have been well manured the previous year, and ridged in the beginning of winter, so as to get into a rich but sweet and well-aired condition. On carelessly or hastily-prepared ground, Pansies are often disappointing. As soon as they have become established in their summer quarters, a dressing of equal parts of soot and salt will be found of considerable service.

Hardy Violas.

[Clibrans

Not only are Violas beautiful in the garden, but they are equally effective and fragrant when cut and placed in a vase.

Violas—continued.

For bedding, garden decoration, and cutting purposes, the Viola is one of the most useful and valued plants; perfectly hardy, accommodating itself to almost all classes of soil, the flowers covering a wide range of colours, from purest white to deep purple and shades of crimson, many of them possessed of a delicious fragrance.

Autumn planting is strongly recommended, the best time being from September to the middle of November. The plants themselves are perfectly hardy. Where from various reasons planting is deferred till the spring, it is advisable to get it completed by the middle of April, as plants that are moved later are more susceptible to the effects of summer heat and draught.

The ground intended for Violas should be in a rich, well-worked condition. To encourage a plentiful succession of bloom pick off withering flowers, so as to prevent the seed pods from forming, and also to slightly shorten the longest shoots, and so secure an abundance of lateral growths.

Purchaser's selection, 3d. each; 2/- per dozen, excepting those priced. (Less than 6 plants of any one variety are charged at the "each" rate).

Our selection, 12 Violas in 12 varieties, 1/6

One hundred, our selection, in 12 sorts, 10/- and 15/-; 50 in 12 sorts, 6/- and 10/-
